PROGRESS

Made With Programme For the Catholic Federation Convention.

Distinguished Speakers Will Be Heard at the Armory Meetings.

Much Enthusiasm Among the Parishes Over Their Floats.

PARISHES DOING THEIR WORK

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Federation of Catholic Societies was held on Wednesday night at the Catholic Woman's Club, all of the members being in attendance. Chairman E. J. Conney was able to announce part of the programme for the public meetings to be held in the Armory. There will be many distinguished speakers at these meetings, which will continue for two days, and also at the banquet. One of these will be the Hon. Charles P. O'Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor, who will discuss some features of the all-important labor controversy, now so much under discussion in this country, particularly since Socialism has entered into it in some quarters.

A negro Catholic priest, Rev. J. H. Dorsey, will tell what the church has done and is doing for the negro in the South. An Indian Chief will tell what the Catholic church has done for the Indian. Chief Joseph Red Willow has for several years belonged to the federation and is color-bearer in the national body. His home is in South Dakota, where the fierce Sioux once predominated. Other speakers, both cleric and lay, have given tentative promises to deliver addresses, but until they make their promises positive their names will not be given out.

Funds will be required for the entertainment of the convention, and for this purpose the local Federation has gone to the expense of issuing a souvenir book of the dioceses of Louisville and of Indianapolis, the two oldest in the West, which alone will cost over $1,500. The federation will have to pay for the erection of reviewing stands and for properly caring for the delegates. Of course the delegates will pay for their own way, but the guests must be entertained, and there will be many of the clergy present as well as the Catholic Editorial Association of the United States. Chairman Conney and his co-workers want to impress upon the Catholic public, whether they belong to the societies connected with the federation or not, that it is up to the whole Catholic public to contribute to the fund for properly caring for the delegates and invited guests. An easy way has been provided in the form of combination books, and if the reasonably well-to-do members of each parish would procure one of these the task would be easy for providing the finances. Some have done more than their share in this matter, but others are lagging behind.

Progress is being made by all of the committees as shown by their reports. There is much enthusiasm over the floats in some of the congregations, and ladies are devoting much of their time in some of the parishes in making flowers and other decorations to trim the vehicles. St. Boniface church, with its 5,000 souls in the parish, will probably take the lead among the German churches. The various organizations connected with the local federation are arranging for their floats and marching clubs. Col. Whalen and his associates on the committee still insist that the demonstration will be the grandest ever seen in Louisville. Secretary Kelly is getting inquiries every day from people all over the country about the convention, which indicates that a great throng will be here during the week of August 18. The Louisville Convention and Publicity League is also giving the convention attention, and will assist in making it a success.

SODALITY TO ENTERTAIN.

On Thursday, July 11, what promises to be a popular and well-attended entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. John's church on the lawn of Mrs. Leveone, Barrett and Breckinridge streets. Hand-some prizes will be up for the lucky sure and lotto players, both afternoon and evening. Coffee, sandwiches, etc., will be served, and in addition there will be the various attractions usual at an up-to-date lawn fete.

GRADUATE FROM ACADEMY.

In the presence of a large number of friends and patrons commencement exercises were held at the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy, East Broadway, Tuesday morning. Four young women were given diplomas, and the principal address of the morning was made by the Very Rev. James P. Cronin, Vicar General of the Louisville diocese. The graduates were Misses Loretto Anastasia Deane, Clara Louise Fowler, Hilda Alice James and Alexina Zimlich Smith. The greater part of the programme was composed of vocal selections by the pupils at the school. The stage was decorated with plants and palms and the children were placed upon a raised platform. Contrary to established custom, no essays were read by the graduates, but all of them had prominent parts in the exercises.

WILL MOVE.

New Home For the Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

The Convent of the Good Shepherd, after more than seventy years of useful existence at Eighth and Madison streets, will in the near future move out beyond the city limits. The Sisters of the Good Shepherd have purchased a tract of land at Newburg road and Rowewalk lane, containing fifteen acres, on which it is proposed to erect an institution similar to that now conducted by them at Eighth and Madison streets. The property, which was purchased for a consideration of $15,000, belonged to the estate of the late Judge John W. Barr. For the past seventy years or more the Convent of the Good Shepherd has been maintained as a charitable branch of the Catholic church. The three buildings fronting on Walnut street and the larger building fronting on Eighth, and extending along Madison street, are said to be inadequate now to accommodate the steady increase in the number of those who apply for homes. The property purchased is admirably located to suit the purposes for which it was acquired, being elevated above the city and possessing both city and country advantages. While no definite plans have been determined upon as to the buildings it is proposed to erect, it is understood work will begin within a few months. The deal was made by D. F. Murphy, of the Fidelity and Columbia Trust Company, representative both the purchaser and the seller.

MAX PAM

Founders Scholarship For Study of Social Sciences.

Dr. Max Pam, the noted Jewish American jurist, in a letter to Cardinal Gibbons and the Board of Trustees of the Catholic University of America, founding therein five scholarships for the study of the social sciences, pays noble tribute to the Catholic church as the great conservative force in our modern life. In setting forth his reasons for the benefactions, Dr. Pam says: "Every European country today is faced to face with grave economic problems. Our turn is coming; in fact, it is a grave question if it be not already here. We hear advanced, from time to time, new and strange theories of government. There are some who claim, even at the present hour, that the constitution has outlived its usefulness. In spite of assistance that I am with your consent, establishing these five scholarships with the understanding that the young men who will be chosen for these scholarships will make a special study of social and economic problems. These problems, as I conceive it, will center round man's relation to man, man's relation to government, and man's relation to property. The Catholic church holds property in the conditions of the past; it is conservative; it stands for authority, for government, for the rights of the individual and for the rights of property, and these to my mind are the chief elements that enter into individual and national happiness; it has the largest number of communicants of any religious institution in the country; it has the opportunity of moulding character, developing the intelligence and creating a proper sense of the duties and responsibilities of citizenship, not only amongst those who are citizens at the present moment, but amongst the millions who will come from other lands, seeking better opportunities and more favorable conditions of life."

RIGOT A COWARD.

Mr. Thomas Watson, who, with the retired, if not the retiring, warrior Gen. Miles, is the head and front of that brave band misnamed the Guardians of Liberty, has been bound over at Augusta to the next session of the Federal Court to answer the charge of having sent obscene matter through the mails. The defense set up by the incarcerated patriot shows him to be a fairly good guardian of his own liberty—he wants the members of the corporation which publishes his magazine to be tried instead of himself. When you scratch a bigot you find a coward.

THE DAY

That the Hibernians and Their Friends Will Display Strength.

Fully Prepared For Picnic Monday at Phoenix Hill Park.

County Board Quarterly Meeting Votes to March in Parade.

FATHER O'SULLIVAN'S ADDRESS

Monday has been declared a half holiday, and will be taken advantage of by the Irish-Americans of the "Pats' Cities" to make the annual Hibernian picnic at Phoenix Hill Park the largest and most successful in the history of the Ancient Order in Louisville. In all parts of the city there is a lively interest among the loyal sons and daughters of Erin in this great reunion, at which the pioneers of the order will gather to renew old friendships and acquaintances and show approval for those now carrying on the work of this great old Irish Catholic society.

At the quarterly meeting at Bertram Hall last Sunday afternoon, presided over by County President Dolan and opened with prayer by Rev. Father O'Sullivan, reports from the various committees showed all the arrangements completed and everything ready for one big day. All that now remains necessary is a pleasant day and big attendance to realize the hope of those who have labored earnestly for the purpose of raising a fund for the proper entertainment of the coming State convention.

Following a brief address by President Martin Cusick the Auditing Committee reported having examined the books of the Secretary and Treasurer and found them correct and well kept. Financial Secretary Thomas Langan submitted a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures, showing a nice balance on hand after all bills had been met. Rev. Father O'Sullivan, of St. Louis Bertrand's, was called upon and delivered a ringing address, in which he dwelt upon the importance of the Catholic Federation convention and the part the Hibernians should take therein. Know the truth, he said, and the truth will set you free. The Catholic church had charity for all, liberty for all, and the federation was promoting openly and boldly only that which was right and proper. Never had the church banned freedom of conscience or freedom of liberty, evidence of which was the part played and the tribute of Washington to the Irish Catholics who fought for the liberty this country now enjoys. Some men forget these facts, he said, but nevertheless it was true that the Catholics are the real guardians of liberty, always opposing dissension and loyal to their country. Father O'Sullivan declared that the Ancient Order ought to be represented in full numbers and with a proper float in the federation parade, and also in every way promote the interest of religion and government.

An interesting discussion followed, in which Lawrence J. Mackey, William M. Higgins, Thomas Langan, Martin Cusick, Thomas Keenan, John Heeson and Patrick Horan participated, with the result that it was unanimously voted that the County Board provide a float, and that the full membership turn out in the parade. Thomas Keenan's offer of four horses for the float was gladly received, as were the services of a number for its construction. Upon the suggestion of President Dolan each division named a member of the committee that will have entire charge of the float and the selection of those who will accompany it. Those named were Thomas Keenan, James Walsh, John Heeson

TRADE UNION

Movement in Ireland Entering a Period of Unexampled Growth.

National Trade Federation Will Abolish Present English Control.

Are Often Ordered to Strike and Then Left in the Lurch.

IRISH TOILERS AS CATSPAW

Late Dublin news is that there are indications that a period of unexampled growth is being made in the Irish labor movement. The Irish labor movement has been an appendage of the British. Now all this is to be changed. Political home rule is to be followed, or perhaps even preceded, by trade union home rule, and at the meeting of the Irish Trade Congress in Clonmel a committee was appointed to work out a scheme for an Irish national labor federation which shall in turn undertake the organization of distinctly Irish trade unions, organized on a national basis, and self-supporting and self-governing.

At present Irish workmen's organizations are woefully ineffective. In most of the great industrial trades they are mere branches of the big English organizations. The Belfast shipyard workers, for instance, belong to the English Amalgamated Society of Engineers and the English Shipwrights' societies. The linen workers, so far as they are organized at all, are members of the British textile workers' unions. The Irish carpenters, masons, ironworkers and other tradesmen are hardly organized at all; and when they are they belong to a few weak branches of the British societies, while the Irish railway men are members of the British Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants. The result of all this has been bad for the Irish workers. The permanent labor officials in England know nothing of Ireland. Few of them have ever visited it. When there is a strike in England Irish members are called on to pay for the support of English strikers, or even to strike in sympathy with them, although they have no grievance of their own, and when they have trouble at home they get little help from England. Two notable cases of this use of Irish workmen as catspaws were the recent British railway strike and the strike of the ironworkers at Wexford. When the English railway men struck they insisted that the Irish railway workers should come out too, although they had no grievance, and their strike could in no way affect the English railways. When the Englishmen patched up their quarrel with their employers the Irishmen were left in the lurch, and some hundreds of them never got their jobs back again.

HAPPIEST OF FATHERS.

This has been the happiest week in the life of Albert F. Martin, of the L. and N. law department, as his son Frank, who is studying for the priesthood at St. Charles' College, near Baltimore, was graduated from that noted institution with first honors and the highest average with one exception recorded during the past fifteen years. Cardinal Gibbons presided and in his address spoke in high terms of the college and graduates. The subject of young Martin's oration was "Plus X, the Pope of the Blessed Sacrament," and was delivered in a most eloquent and masterly manner, winning unstinted applause.

MEMORIAL ADOPTED.

At the regular meeting of St. Cecilia's Conference of the St. Vincent de Paul Society last Sunday morning Messrs. John Lynn, W. B. Campbell and John McQuinn reported memorial resolutions on the death of the late Michael Cahill. After expressions of regret over the loss the conference and parish had sustained, the memorial was adopted and copies ordered sent to the family of the deceased and the Catholic press.

DEMOCRATS

Have Golden Opportunity to Sweep Country in November Election.

No Chance For Republicans to Heal Branch Between Leaders.

William Jennings Bryan Only Disturber in Democratic Fold.

NEW POST OFFICE DEAL NEEDED

Democrats all over the country are in great grief over the present disorganized state of the Republicans and the bitter feeling engendered among the G. O. P. leaders at the Chicago convention just closing, and feeling that with a fairly strong candidate named at Baltimore they will sweep the country. In years past it has been customary for the Republican factions to get together in harmony after factional fights, but this year sees a knockout for that old fallacy, as the enemy between Taft and Roosevelt and their followers precludes anything like harmony in their relations for some time to come. The only possibility of the Democrats following in their footsteps will be the allowing of William Jennings Bryan attempting to play the dictator role, a la Roosevelt, in the Democratic convention, as Bryan has lost caste with the rank and file of Democracy, who believe the Nebraska man has played the leading role in the party long enough and should be content for new blood and new leaders to assume control.

Bryan's ultimatum issued from Chicago Thursday that he does not want Parker for Chairman of the convention has enraged many Democrats, and if the other controlling spirits are wise they will sit down on Mr. Bryan early in the game. On account of the decision of the Court of Appeals last Tuesday nominations for the new Circuit Judge in this district will not be made at the coming August primary, as the decision reads as follows: "The court, in its opinion, holds that the nomination can not be made at the August primary, but may be made at a corporation or primary as provided by law."

REGRETTED.

John M. Hennessy Resigns Presidency of Trinity Council.

Trinity Council, Y. M. C. I., entertained its members with a smoker last Monday evening, the meeting being well attended. Andrew M. Kiefer, who has been away from the city for about two years, was present and made a short address. First Vice President Sandmann occupied the chair in the absence of President Hennessy, who has been confined to his home on account of illness. A. G. Schneider, Chairman of the Picnic Committee, reported the committee was making extensive preparations for the annual excursion to Fern Grove on July 10. Two boats have been chartered to convey the crowds to the grove in the morning and two in the evening. The Membership Committee, under the leadership of Robert Muhs, reported that not less than fifty candidates would be given the degrees at the next initiation, which would take place in the fall. The Mammoth Cave Excursion Committee reported they had arranged for another excursion to Mammoth Cave on September 1.

John M. Hennessy resigned as President on account of ill health. The resignation was accepted with deep regrets, as President Hennessy has made an excellent officer, and it is hoped that he will recuperate and be back in the harness in the near future. Next Monday evening two important elections will take place, that of President and delegates to the Grand Council, which will convene in Owensboro in August. Every member is urged to be present on this evening.

SECOND GRAND OUTING.

At an enthusiastic meeting Wednesday night of the men of the parish of the Sacred Heart Retreat plans were formulated for the second grand parish outing on Thursday, July 4, on Barr's field, on the Newburg road. The arrangements are in the hands of an executive committee consisting of Messrs. George J. Waechter, Joseph Moran, John Campbell, Christ Crawford and J. C. Parsons. Various other committees were appointed, and each promised to furnish its share to the general good time promised to all.

alism a necessity was pointed out by President M. J. Lebane in his opening speech at the congress. In these days much of the work of the organizations is done in the lobbies of Parliament, and it is absurd to expect that English labor leaders will come over to Dublin to look after the Parliamentary interests of their Irish members. The success of the few existing unions which are purely Irish is a strong argument in favor of the new policy. The Dublin Society of Compositors, which is entirely free from English domination, has not had a strike for more than 100 years, and its wage scale is higher than that of the London union.

WILL BE BUSY.

Catholic Knights Planning For Three Big Events.

The next two months will be a busy season for the Central Committee and Catholic Knights of America. At an enthusiastic meeting held at St. Mary's hall, with President John Schalda occupying the chair, the Central Committee decided that the Catholic Knights would take a part in the coming national convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies that would be a pleasing surprise to their supreme officers and representatives. Gen. Michael Reichert submitted a beautiful design for a float, which was accepted. Col. Joe McGinn was instructed to select the children who will accompany it, and State Secretary William T. Meehan will designate the Knights who are to represent the order. Encouraging talks were made by John Kinney, of Jeffersonville; Supreme Delegate Veenneman and others, and the ladies who will assist in decorating the float are invited to meet at the McGinn residence, 513 West Chestnut street, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Chairman Oscar Maier announced that Fontaine Ferry Park had been secured for July 15 for the annual picnic reunion, when a gold prize of $5 would be awarded. The committee, he said, would endeavor to have some added attractions for this day, which has always been a big one. Messrs. Charles Hill, Michael Reichert and William M. Higgins were appointed a special committee to report on the advisability of an excursion during the summer months. Resolutions on the death of the late John Fackler, one of the pioneers of the order in this city, were reported by Gen. Reichert, Secretary Kruse and William T. Meehan, and letters were sent Thomas Keenan, of this city, and Police Commissioner J. J. Coffey, of Louisville, expressing hope for their speedy recovery.

JOHN M. HENNESSY RESIGNS

Presidency of Trinity Council.

Trinity Council, Y. M. C. I., entertained its members with a smoker last Monday evening, the meeting being well attended. Andrew M. Kiefer, who has been away from the city for about two years, was present and made a short address. Next Monday evening two important elections will take place, that of President and delegates to the Grand Council, which will convene in Owensboro in August. Every member is urged to be present on this evening.

A pleasing surprise of the meeting was the presentation of a handsome life size photograph to Grand President Vic Ecker as a token of appreciation of his loyalty and earnest work in the interest of Trinity Council. James B. Kelly made the presentation speech, paying the Grand President high but well merited compliment. Mr. Ecker was so greatly surprised that he was hardly able to do more than assure the donors of his high appreciation.

IMPOSTOR ARRESTED.

Nathan Rosenthal, a house to house canvasser, was arrested this past week on a warrant sworn out by Rev. Father Cletus Brady, of the Passionist Retreat, for obtaining money under false pretenses. Rosenthal disposing of pictures of the Sacred Heart to several people here, stating that they were blessed by the Passionist Fathers and anything the parishioners wished to give would be accepted, as there could be no fixed price for the sale of a blessed article. In some instances he told the donors that the money would be turned over to Sacred Heart Retreat. At the examining trial the prisoner's attorneys asked for a postponement.

CONSISTENT LYING.

The Evening Post sustained its reputation as a falsifier in the King McNamara (Jimmie Baker) case when it stated that he was a first or second cousin of Dr. John T. Chaw, the City Veterinarian, and when called to account published a shame-faced denial in the late edition. Its editor then stated in an editorial that the prisoner was a city employe, and was so tickled with his success in getting away with that lie that he republished it the following day. The Post should change its motto to read "If false and untrue, not otherwise."

SIGNIFICANT.

One of the most significant developments of the home rule agitation in Ireland is the action of the Bishops and clergy in refusing to follow or support William O'Brien or his "All for Ireland Congress." This action of the Bishops is doubly important from the fact that Cardinal Logue and many other eminent ecclesiastics throughout Ireland had hitherto given the most faithful support to the policy and views of William O'Brien and his chief lieutenant, Tim Healy. This is the deadliest blow that has been struck at factionalism in Ireland for many years, and it must either "end or mend" the Healy-O'Brien campaign.

WRONG IMPRESSION.

An impression has been created by the local secular press that the Catholic Federation convention's feature will be a big parade. This is not to be the case. While the parade, with the many floats, the decorations, etc., will be an interesting feature of the convention, it will not be the main one. The 700 or more delegates will come here to discuss topics of vital importance to society, especially the societies connected with the federation. They will not come here to witness a pageant or to attend banquets or participate in excursions, but they will be here for business. Of course the visitors, as well as the Catholics of Louisville, will be gratified if the demonstration is a grand one, but the main idea is to make a lasting impression upon the delegates and visitors of the progress made by Catholics in Louisville and in Kentucky during the past 130 years.

Members of St. John's Episcopal church are indignant and up in arms because of the announcement that the minister will marry two colored people next Tuesday. They have gone so far as to threaten that, unless the ceremony is performed elsewhere, Bishop Woodcock will be asked to interfere. This is another striking example of the Protestant spirit of Christianity and tolerance.

The Catholic Union and Times last week issued an artistic and well edited edition commemorative of the cornerstone laying of Buffalo's magnificent new Cathedral. The Union and Times, energetic and up to date, is in the best position to take the lead in the publication of the Catholic daily so much talked about.

Remember that when your school days are over you will have to take your place in the world. What that place will be is due largely to circumstances, but the manner in which you fill that place depends upon yourself only.

The editor of the Indiana Catholic, the William O'Brien of Indiana, still continues his flings at the Irish Nationalists and the home rule bill. Why his opposition to the Irish people we can't understand.

Our local automobile speeders are becoming bolder, now running over policemen.

DEPLORABLE SPECTACLE.

As the New York Herald says, it is greatly to be regretted that the United States could not have spared the spectacle. Think of the presence at a national convention of a man seeking the nomination who once held the highest office in the gift of the people, who gave his pledge that he would never consent to the use of his name for the post again! Just a plain, ordinary sidewalk politician, swearing at his opponents, crying fraud while winking at it on the part of his listeners, abusing all who disagree with him, appealing to the mob, threatening to wreck the party which he has fattened on so long unless it "takes me!" Exuding vituperation at every pore, filled with egotism and impelled on by the most dangerous ambition, he still professes to be the counterpart of Abraham Lincoln!

Y. M. I.

Mackin Council Plans For a Great Showing in August.

At an enthusiastic meeting of Mackin Council, Y. M. I., last Monday night, presided over by Frank G. Adams, four applications were received and much routine business transacted. The advisability of running an excursion to Owensboro when the Grand Council meets there was discussed, but final action was deferred. William Link reported for the delegates to the Catholic Federation, and announced that Unity, Trinity and Mackin Councils had combined and would place in the great Catholic Federation parade a float that would equal any ever seen in this city. The Falls Cities Councils, he said, would turn out together, and the councils of the Kentucky and Indiana Jurisdictions had been invited to be here on that occasion. Favorable responses have been received from several, large delegations being expected from Indianapolis, Lexington, Owensboro, Carrollton and other places. The colors of the Y. M. I. will be red, white and blue, the hope being to have at least 2,000 in line.

CATHOLIC BASEBALL LEAGUE.

The teams of the Catholic Baseball League will play as follows tomorrow: St. William vs. St. Brigid, Shawnee No. 2; St. Anthony vs. St. Martin, Shawnee No. 3; Holy Cross vs. Holy Trinity, Shawnee No. 1, and St. Charles vs. St. Louis Bertrand at Spring Bank. The standing of the league to date is as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Charles	7	0	1.000
St. William's	6	1	.857
Holy Trinity	4	3	.571
St. Anthony	3	4	.429
St. Brigid	3	4	.429
Holy Cross	2	5	.285
St. Louis	2	5	.285
St. Martin	1	6	.142

GREATLY ENJOYED.

Mackin Council entertained with a most enjoyable evening at the home of Mrs. W. J. Kavanagh, and danced Saturday evening at Senning's Park, the guests of honor being the members of the "Terrace Tavern" company and a few others who assisted in making the last opera a complete success. The tables were banked with flowers and ferns and the scene was animated and pretty. Charles S. Reidy presided as toastmaster, and in welcoming the Choral Club expressed the thanks of Mackin Council to each member of the company for the services rendered. Former stars of the company also present were Mrs. Esther Weeden Slater and Miss Hattie Hoffman. Toasts were responded to by President Frank Adams, Thomas D. Clines and Miss Alice Shelley, after which several hours were spent in tripping the light fantastic.

RECENT DEATHS.

Funeral services over the remains of Miss Mary Casey, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Patrick and Mary Casey, deceased, were held Wednesday morning at Holy Trinity church. Her death occurred Sunday evening at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. Oscar Schultz, 815 Edward avenue.

Mary Stahl Hunn, beloved wife of Herman Hunn, 522 South Eighteenth street, was called to her eternal rest Wednesday afternoon. She was fifty-two years of age and leaves many friends, who mourn her death. Her funeral took place yesterday morning from Sacred Heart church, Rev. Patrick Walsh officiating at the mass of requiem.

The funeral of Mrs. Julia Sweeney, widow of James Sweeney, took place Monday morning from St. Louis Bertrand's church, of which she had long been a faithful and devoted member. Surviving her are three children, Misses Eleanor and Nellie Sweeney and Richard Sweeney, and two sisters, Mrs. Daniel Scanlon and Mrs. M. J. Norton. Mrs. Sweeney resided at 303 East Kentucky street, and had borne her long illness with patience and Christian fortitude.

RECEIVE DIPLOMAS SUNDAY.

The pupils of the Sacred Heart school, Seventeenth and Broadway, and St. Brigid's school will receive their diplomas and medals in their respective churches at the high mass tomorrow morning. This will be a pleasing event for the parents and makes an impression not soon forgotten. The work of the Sacred Heart commercial department has been on exhibition for several days, and by all has been pronounced as being of unsurpassed merit.

SCHOOL SOCIAL.

Next Monday the school children of St. Anne's church, of which the Rev. John T. Hill is the energetic and zealous pastor, will give a social in the church grounds, and will hold their closing exercises on the day following, June 25. A most interesting and pleasing programme will be presented under the direction of the Ursuline Sisters in charge of St. Anne's school, in which 135 children are now enrolled.

ANNUAL PICNIC

UNDER AUSPICES OF

Ancient Order of Hibernians

Phoenix Hill Park, Monday, June 24, 1912.

A DAY OF PLEASURE.

ADMISSION TEN CENTS

MOONLIGHT MUSING.

I muse tonight in the pale moonlight on days of long ago,
In that dear old land so leal and grand where beautiful rivers flow:
The hills and dales and the lovely vales in youth I lov'd to roam,
And mused in the shade of ruins made with lofty walls and dome.

Ah! how grand the sight on St. John's night in Ireland far away,
With pride I'd gaze on bonfires blaze bright on hill and brae;
The happy crowd and the laughter loud of maidens on the green,
Where lilies pale do scent the gale, the fairest to be seen.

The dancers gay on crossroads way, the piper's lively tune,
The mirth and song all night along this glorious night in June;
Old folks pray'd for long delayed freedom of their land,
And days more bright from the British blight and yoke of tyrant band.

Those legions vast in the storied past that fought for Erin's right,
And the heroes brave who died to save Faith in all their might;
All! all this might in the pale moonlight come before my view,
But quickly fade among ruins made as sun dispels the dew.

Now my muse will change from distant range to St. John's night at home,
To park at Phoenix Hill, the Irish still to celebrate will come;
The maidens fair will be surely there and dance an Irish tune,
Hibernians all and a crowded hall the twenty-fourth of June.
Daniel McCarthy.

SOCIETY

There has been nothing but rejoicing and congratulations at the home of Carl G. Becker, 822 Thirty-fourth street, since last week, when the Stork left there a lovely little girl from Babylon.

A select dance was given by the Young Men's Social Club at Utopian Hall on Tuesday evening with the members of the St. Louis Bertrand baseball club as guests of honor. Refreshments were served by the club.

Miss Florence Webb and John F. Keely were united in marriage at the Holy Cross church rectory Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. The bride is an accomplished and pretty girl of the West End, and the groom is the well known bicycle patrolman of the Fourth district.

Three happy marriages were consummated Wednesday, the contracting parties being John Keely and Florence Webb, James J. Foley and Lillian Tobin, and Martin Tully and Bridget Egan. All have a host of friends who wish them a long and happy voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Next Thursday Ben Kruse, the widely known Highlands druggist, and his estimable wife will celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage at their home, 1436 Christy avenue. They will then leave to spend two weeks in Chicago and the Northwest. Mr. Kruse is associated with W. B. Young at Broadway and Baxter avenue.
